dynamic div to hold an image? I have an image and I want it to change dynamically as the user views the page. Each time the page is viewed the image should be set to the next image in the folder. This will be viewed via an iframe. This works fine when there are all images at once but when the user views the page again the images should be replaced by the next image from the folder. I have tried using the image src and srcset attributes and doing:

parent.document.getElementById("img").srcset = imgurURL + " " + imgFileName; But to no avail. The folder is made 3e33713323
