It is high-tech anti-spam tool that is very efficient and reliable. It has the power to block spammers, and thus enable e-mail users to get rid of spam messages. How to use email anti-spam software?. Anti-Spam software in e-mail is an application software or program, which aims to block spam messages and thus help e-mail users to reduce the amount of spam emails that reach the inboxes, as these may not be useful or informative and thus do not add value to a person's email inbox or gmail account. What are the different types of email anti-spam software?. Each type of email anti-spam software has its own unique qualities and features. For example, one type of anti-spam software is capable of filtering a spam message based on the particular domain name from the email header. Other software focuses on content analysis, depending on its spam filters. What is SMTP email anti-spam software?. SMTP based email anti-spam software. This type of email anti-spam software works on the SMTP protocol which is an internet messaging protocol, which was developed by Robert Post in 1983. The protocol provides facilities for the exchange of email messages. It does this by translating the email messages into a format that is understood by the receiving email server. What is POP email anti-spam software?. POP based email anti-spam software. This type of email anti-spam software works on the POP3 protocol which was created by Phil Karn in 1992. The POP3 protocol was designed to exchange email messages with email servers. The protocol provides facilities for obtaining or retrieving messages from a mail server. It provides a means of saving all your email messages to local storage. This type of anti-spam software does this by forwarding an email from the e-mail server to your local email client.
