Motion capture suits have been used in other sports such as baseball, tennis and hockey, and combine both real-world and 3D modelling. Players on the pitch are filmed on the ground using this technology, and their body movements are mapped and quantified into richly-detailed character animations. The game also features improved player ratings that are more specific to each position, with several new player ratings systems being introduced, including the Player Impact Rating (PIR), which focuses on the impact a player's performance can have on the game outcome. A brand-new injury system has also been introduced, which features over 160 realistic injury types that affect the quality of a player's movement, including concussions and injuries sustained from blocked shots. Injury types can occur through hard tackles, bad passes or poor decisions. Players can also experience injuries with practice and fatigue through matches played. In addition, FanMatch has also been redesigned to be more dynamic, competitive and social. Now, users can interact with their friends, including tagging players on their social media and competitions, viewing their statistics, chatting on messages, competing in games and watching replays. Complete player profiles are also available, including store information, posts, photos, videos and achievements. FanMatch can be accessed through the in-game menu, or through the new "Club" section of the right-hand side navigation bar. A brand-new leaderboard has also been introduced, where users can see their position in rankings, but also view league tables and attend international or worldwide competitions on their results page. This allows users to stand out from the crowd, as it is now possible to open and personalise their own leaderboard. Additional improvements have also been made to the way matches are created, with users no longer only being able to create private matches, but also create open tournaments and competitions where every user, regardless of rank, can be invited to participate. Finally, a brand-new "My Career" mode has been introduced, which allows users to play through their own career with their own set of goals and ambitions. Set to reflect the latest story in football, with the introduction of a new look and feel, the new edition will be available to download on Xbox One, PC and PlayStation 4 in the second half of June. Fans can also expect to see the most improved FIFA in history, with FIFA 21 completely overhauled, with new gameplay improvements, visuals and graphical changes, as

What's new:

- Increased number of goals added to all modes to more accurately represent realistic soccer situations; this applies to normal games, mini games and free kicks, from penalties and long range free kicks to center backs clearing their lines.
- In-game camera now more easily captures varied angles at high speed.
- Live Crew kicked off Ultimate Team Scoreboard with one goal added to every game played in the Ultimate Team Championship Mode; now the whole 32-game matches are affected.
- Psychological Awareness and Motivation Training are now exclusive to Pro Clubs; a coach's special interactive dialogue will help improve players' Sporting Intelligence, which can be used to find a new skill area to develop, such as improving an impulse control.
- Live Ultimate Team allows you to draft players and set up moves in your virtual career, to use your realistic career in Ultimate Team. The Draft Mode now allows you to control your own use of the Draft Tool with a new online Draft Price monitor; draft a keeper to spend your hard earned cash, or manager funds to see if you have enough to make a splash at a high cost.
- A new resources card gives you more control over your club budget when using transfer funds in FUT Draft Mode.
- FIFA 22 allows clubs to unlock the Virtual Assistant, who speaks directly to players and offers helpful suggestions based on the choices players make: for example, offering a possible purchase, the best area to use live skills, and more.
- The new Injuries system can be triggered for players during gameplay with results appearing on player cards as well as in game, and it works for both career or FUT gameplay.
- Players can now choose from pre-defined celebrations, including the Victory, Captain Seleção, Axis, Heart Sista, and Head Elephant.
- New injury system will enable the computer to simulate, and trigger real-world-like, player injuries. This will impact player play style with the consequences of injuries showing in-game.
- New bespoke celebrations will be used by captains when they score in career or FUT gameplay.
- Downloadable FUT content is now all region-free. All other previously released content retains its custom region identifier.
- Player animations have been tweaked to make the
